

MINERS CONSERVATIVE.

Executive Committee May Determine the Question of a Strike.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN PRESENT.

Indianapolis, July 16.—"To strike or not to strike?" This is the vital question to settle which delegates are pouring into Indianapolis from almost every coal mining district of the country in readiness for the great convention which assembles tomorrow in response to the recent call of President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America. If the convention reaches an affirmative decision it will mean, so say the officials of the miners' organization, that 200,000 men will lay down their picks, not to resume work until their brethren in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania have obtained their demands. A decision not to strike will mean, at the very least, the breaking of the backbones of the miners' struggle in Pennsylvania and a serious blow to organized labor in general.

In the settlement of this "lady and the tiger" question there is a conservative element among the union miners that is strongly pronounced in favor of the convention taking a compromise course. It would be better, say the leaders of this element, for the convention not to declare a strike outright but to delegate to the executive board of the United Mine Workers the power to call out the men on general strike at their discretion. This, it is pointed out, would give the advantage of a delay before the final card is played, while at the same time not detracting from the moral support given by the unions throughout the country to the Pennsylvania strikers. It is further argued in support of this course that it would help greatly the financial end of the struggle as it would enable the soft coal miners still at work to devote a large part of it to earnings to the anthracite strikers and enable the latter to continue their strike indefinitely or until a successful issue was reached. Although President Mitchell has so far refrained from expressing an opinion on the subject of the convention and the proper course for it to pursue it is said by those intimately associated with him that he would prefer to have the convention delegate to the executive board the power to call the strike rather than have the issue brought to a climax at once.

Meanwhile the delegates are pouring into Indianapolis from all directions and about the headquarters of the United Mine Workers they are to be seen in groups talking over the situation, the latest news from the Pennsylvania field and the probable outcome of the struggle. For the most part they are extremely reticent so far as public utterances are concerned and it is a difficult matter to ascertain how they stand with regard to the main question. Enough can be gleaned, however, to warrant the forecast that the convention will not declare a general strike by any overwhelming majority and if a strike is called at all it will be in the face of considerable opposition. Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Iowa will hold the majority of the delegates. In three of these states at least satisfactory conditions prevail at present. The men are working under a yearly agreement and are enjoying concessions which it has taken years for them to gain. Such contracts, it may readily be believed, are not to be lightly broken. Michigan, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee and one or two other states will be represented in the convention. It is not known exactly how their delegates stand on the strike question, but it is unlikely that their numerical strength will be sufficient to influence the decision to any great extent. The states of Maryland, Colorado, Washington, Montana, Indian Territory, Arkansas, New Mexico and Texas, and one-half the soft coal "strip" of Pennsylvania, are not organized, but there are small unions among them, and some have sent delegates to the convention.

When the convention assembles in Tomlinson hall at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and the roll is called by Secretary Wilson it will be answered by a fine body of men as ever attended a labor gathering. Fifteen hundred in number they represent the brains and sinews of the miners' unions. While undoubtedly there are agitators among them, they appear for the most part to be a conservative lot of men. What ever decision is reached it will be after intelligent discussion of the question from every view point.

Opinions expressed by those on the ground already indicate a general hope that whatever action is taken may be by a good, solid majority so as to leave no doubt of the feeling of the miners throughout the country. It is feared that if a strike were declared by a small majority it would create such friction that a split in the union might ensue, and it is said that this is the fear that President Mitchell has had ever since the anthracite miners said they wanted a national strike.

On the other hand, the advocates of a general strike are determined to leave no stone unturned in an effort to bring the convention to an affirmative decision and by a large majority. They argue that a defeat in Pennsylvania would be a crushing blow to unionism, and that in order to retain the present strength of the mine workers the soft coal men, as a matter of self preservation, must join in the strike and make the struggle of the Pennsylvania miners their own.

Dog Days.

The "dog days" began on Friday, the 11th instant. This season, which is supposed to last six weeks, is regarded by many persons as more unhealthy than that which immediately precedes or succeeds it, and as being a time when mankind are more likely to be attacked from disease through exposure or imprudence in their general habits than in any other. If there is no foundation in fact for the belief it is a superstition of long standing. There are even those now who would not for a single moment be regarded as at all superstitious who look upon the dog days as exercising bad influences upon the human system. The heat while the dog days last is usually more sultry and oppressive than any other in the summer. Then, too, meats and vegetables are supposed to be in more danger of spoiling from the effects of the weather than at any other. Be this as it may, we have now entered upon the dog days, and it would be well for us to be careful in our diet and manner of living.

MAY HAVE A CHANCE.

European Moulders Will be Permitted to Work Here.

Toronto, Ont., July 16.—International Moulders' union has adopted a resolution providing for the recognition of cards of members of European unions to the extent of allowing their holders to work a sufficient length of time to demonstrate their eligibility for membership in the American International union. The convention also decided to have the constitution and ritual printed in languages other than English for the benefit of the foreign element in American cities. Resolutions were presented and referred to committees for consideration. Resolutions were presented and referred to committees for consideration. Hon. John S. Clark, the well known territorial coal oil inspector, is in the city today on business, and he made a pleasant call at the Citizen office. Mr. Clark will either leave tonight or tomorrow morning for his home and headquarters at Las Vegas.

In a letter to Dr. J. H. Chamberlin, writing from Muncie, Ind., Mrs. Chamberlin says that her health has improved in the lower altitude of Indiana, but that the health of her father, Rev. J. S. Heath, is still very bad. Mrs. Chamberlin will be absent from the city until fall.

Six carloads of wool, labeled with big banners from John Becker, of Belen, passed through the city this morning for Brown-Ross Co., of Las Vegas, who recently purchased over 2,100 sacks from Mr. Becker. This consignment is only a part of the Becker wool. The balance will be coming along as soon as Mr. Becker can secure freight cars.

Dr. A. L. Mahaffey has a letter from his wife. She attended the National Educational association convention at Minneapolis, and is now there visiting friends. Mrs. Mahaffey recently took a civil service examination as assistant matron of the government Indian school service, and has been assigned to such a position at a school in Washington.

J. G. Johnson, a well known horse trainer, has returned to the city after an absence of seven years. Since leaving here he visited southern California, Cuba and finally located in Denver, where he was for the past three years. At Denver he met J. J. Phelan and says Phelan is running the Bacon dental parlors. Dr. Bacon had died and Mrs. Bacon is east visiting. Mr. Johnson is here to take charge of W. L. Trimble's string of pacing and trotting horses.

EIGHT TRUNKS SEIZED.

Two Denver Ladies Were Unfortunate at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., July 15.—Eight trunks, the property of Mrs. Charles Boettcher and Miss Nettie McManis, of Denver, were seized by customs officers here. The trunks contained contraband goods valued at $1,000. Mrs. Boettcher and her companion arrived from the Orient Sunday and when their baggage was searched by customs officers, the trunks were found full of dutiable goods of all kinds, including silks, embroideries and curios. The trunks had not been declared according to customs law and were seized. Mrs. Boettcher, in explanation, stated she regarded the contents of the trunks as personal effects, and had not declared in the usual manner for that reason. She said no attempt was made to evade the law and the seizure was simply the result of her lack of knowledge of the proper procedure in the matter. The matter was submitted to the collector of the port and it is very probable the ladies will be permitted to pay duty on the trunks, as it is evident there was no intent to evade the customs officers.

A FINE PROGRAM.

The Arrangements for Next Sunday Afternoon Particularly Enjoyable.

The program for Sunday afternoon's races and ball game was arranged last evening at a meeting of the Gentlemen's Driving association. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged and the proceeds will be used in improving and repairing the track.

The ball game will be between the Old Town Reds and the Browns and if the game is as it was two weeks ago, it alone will be worth the price of admission.

In the 2:25 class Joe Barnett's new California purchase, Primrose, will start. It is rather an experiment to assist in acclimating the horse, but good speed is expected. The entries are:

3:00 Minute Class—Dick Sanchez, Doctor Gordon and William F.

2:25 Class—Bob Collins, Primrose and Boone.

Free-for-All—Bonnie Treasure and Lady Marguerite.

NOT SO BAD.

Loss of Life in the Storm is Discredited at Grand Forks.

St. Paul, July 16.—Telegraphic communication with the Red River valley is still interrupted, but a brief telephone conversation with Grand Forks at noon brought news the storm was very widespread and did much damage. There is no confirmation of the reports that several towns have been destroyed. These reports are discredited at Grand Forks as also are the reports of loss of life. It is believed many are injured, but none killed. The storm started near Devil's Lake, in northern North Dakota, swept over and up Red River, then jumped across Minnesota, and went tearing down the Mississippi river into Iowa.

OIL FIRE PAGING.

Will Try Experiment of Snuffing It Out With Steam.

New Orleans, La., July 16.—News from Jennings, La., says the fire at Jennings, well No. 2 is still raging. It is now planned to surround the burning well with boilers and attempt to snuff the fire out with steam. Two tanks containing 25,000 barrels have been burned and it is estimated 50,000 barrels from gushers have been destroyed up to this morning. If the steam plan is successful, it is believed the fire will probably be subdued in four or five days.

FALL SPORTS.

Professor Miller Stopped Off to Interview President Tigh.

Prof. J. O. Miller, assistant registrar of the Agricultural and Mechanical college at Mesilla Park, was here yesterday interviewing President W. G. Tigh, of the University, and Mr. Travers, of the Indian school, in regard to football and base ball during the fall and winter.

Professor Miller says crop conditions in the valley are not favorable on account of the lack of rain, as the only rain in eight months was an inch which fell last week. The second crop of alfalfa was ruined by the drought.

Professor Miller went on to Denver this morning, where he will spend a month.

Keen met in the city last night and held a conference on certain matters politically. The governor is still in the city.

BLUEHER'S IRRIGATORS.

They Will Make Grass Around the Alvarado and Depot.

Herman Blueher set his plows to work this morning on the forthcoming grass plots around the Alvarado hotel and depot, and it is his intention to have the plots, measuring all told about two acres, just as green as Kentucky, where the famous blue grass is extensively cultivated and even grows wild along the public highways in the fence corners by the first of October. He has ordered 900 pounds of pure blue grass seed, and will sow in September, after which he will station seventy-five of Blueher's lawn irrigators at various points on the grass plot. From these irrigators the two acres will be flooded with several inches of water as required, and in the fall there will be small lawns galore all around the Alvarado and depot. With these irrigators in use, although the country suffers from lack of rains, the lawn question is thoroughly solved as far as Albuquerque is concerned, and everybody, with a piece of ground, can have a fine lawn.

INTEREST IN THE FAIR.

Many Inquiries Are Being Received From Outside Horsemen.

Inquiries are being received daily from horsemen in other states and particularly in Colorado as to the fair races. Last year inquiries were not received until September and up to the time of the fair not as many were received as have been received thus far this year. The outlook for good racing never was better. The officers of the fair association are not discouraged over the seeming lack of interest over horse race in El Paso. They are confident the city will furnish a good team when the time comes.

President Hewett, of the Normal school at Las Vegas, has informed Prof. M. E. Hickey he will have a fine exhibit of goods made by the manual training class. A table will be built by pupils during the fair and other articles will be manufactured.

Our Local Soldiers.

The Albuquerque Guards, in goodly numbers, met at their hall in the Grant building last night for the company's regular weekly drill. The matter of attending the encampment of the Texas state militia at Austin, which will occur next week and to which the Albuquerque Guards have been invited, was discussed. Captain Elder, when seen this afternoon by a Citizen reporter, said that although the guards will not attend in a body, some ten or a dozen will go. It has been reported from the El Paso end of the Rio Grande division, that the Santa Fe had agreed to make the guards the exceedingly low rate of $10 to El Paso and return. From El Paso the Albuquerque delegation will be guests of the El Paso company.

Last Note Delivered.

Rome, Italy, July 16.—At noon today Major Porter, of the judge advocate's department of the army of Washington, personally delivered to Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, the last note from Judge Taft on the subject of the withdrawal of friars from the Philippine islands, which will presumably end the governor's negotiations here.

Wines in Barrels.

Special attention is called to the advertisement of Rachechi & Giomi published in another column. Several car loads of the finest makes of wines were received this morning, and those fine liquid goods are offered to the public in pints, quarts and barrels. Give the firm a call when you are in need of first class wines.

Raised the $2,000.

The guarantee fund for the establishment of a school of music was raised to $2,000 this morning by President Tigh. He was out but a short time with the paper and met with much encouragement.

Sam Vann, doctor of optics and Santa Fe watch inspector, has returned from a short business trip to Denver.

A CHANCE IN A LIFE TIME to invest on the ground floor with owners, in a developed free milling gold mine that has produced, and has expended on it in development on the ledge and a complete five-stamp mill, with all other necessary machinery ready to run.

The Ozark is not a prospect, but a mine that has produced. We are placing 100,000 shares of development stock at 25c per share, capital stock 1,000,000 shares, (par value $1 each), fully paid and non-assessable, to further develop and put the property on a paying basis.

A property lying near the Ozark, with nowhere as good a showing and very little development, sold last week to a New York syndicate for $200,000. The Ozark will pay dividends and be worth par inside of six months. This is the best investment for the money that has ever been offered to the investing public.

Do not lose this opportunity. It will never come again.
